

limits for Extra Help are countable income of $1,505/month ($2,023 for couples); and countable resources in the amount of $12,140 ($24,250 for couples). Because the rules for counting income and resources under Extra Help are more generous than those for Medicare Savings Program (MSP) eligibility, you may be eligible for the highest level of help even if you have been denied MSP eligibility.

If you qualify for Extra Help you are able to switch drug plans on a month-to-month basis (this should be done only to obtain better coverage of the drugs you need).

How Do You Apply For These Benefits?

Applications for a Medicare Savings Program are made online, by mail, or in person, with state Income Support Division Offices. Applications for Extra Help are made with Social Security, online (www.socialsecurity.gov); in person at your local Social Security office; or by phone at 1-800-772-1213. You may also get help with applications from agencies including the NM Aging & Disability Resource Center (1-800-432-2080) and the Benefits Connection Center (1-844-266-2236).

Questions about Health Benefits?

Call SCLO at (505) 265-2300 or
The Aging & Disability Resource Center

Senior Citizens' Law Office, Inc. is funded by the City of Albuquerque Area Agency on Aging, McCune Charitable Foundation, New Mexico Civil Legal Services and Access to Justice Commissions, and Con Alma Health Foundation.

Revised 3/1/16

This information is not intended as a substitute for specific legal advice.

Got Medicare? Get Help with Costs

If you are single and your income is less than $1,505 a month, or married and your income is less than $2,203 per month, you might qualify for financial help covering many of your Medicare out-of-pocket costs.

OUT-OF-POCKET COSTS FOR MEDICARE BENEFICIARIES

Medicare is an important source of health care coverage, but beneficiaries are charged for part of the costs of care. Beneficiaries must pay monthly premiums; and when they obtain services they usually have “deductible” and “co-insurance” (including “co-pays”) charges. The amount of this “cost-sharing” can be very high.

What Type of Help is Available?

Some individuals have other health coverage that helps cover their Medicare cost sharing. This flyer highlights two types of public benefits that provide such help for lower income individuals: “Medicare Savings Programs,” and “Extra Help” (a/k/a called the “Low Income Subsidy”).

What is a Medicare Savings Program?

There are three Medicare Savings Programs, commonly referred to by their initials: “QMB,” “SLMB,” and “QI.” These are special, limited types of Medicaid coverage that cover all or part of your Medicare premiums and cost sharing, (but not for any added services). QMB covers all your Medicare premiums and cost sharing. SLMB and QI pay only for your Medicare “Part B” premium.

The countable income and resource limits for these Medicaid programs, effective 4/1/16, are:

	INCOME*	RESOURCES
QMB
Individual	$1,010/month	$7,280
Couple	$1,355/month	$10,930
SLMB
Individual	$1,208/month	$7,280
Couple	$1,622/month	$10,930
QI
Individual	$1,357/month	$7,280
Couple	$1,823/month	$10,930

*Income eligibility is determined on a monthly basis. Medicaid disregards (does not count) the first $20/month of most types of income. The income figures include the $20 disregard. The income amounts increase each April.

Are All the Income and Resources You Have Counted in Determining Eligibility?

No, several types of income and resources are not counted. Income that is disregarded includes: the first $20 per month; $65 plus ½ of monthly earnings; and certain types of income available to Native Americans. On the other hand, if other people help you with your food or housing costs, that help can actually be counted as income to you. Examples of resources that are not counted include: your home; a motor vehicle; personal items (e.g., jewelry and household goods; and a burial space and up to $1,500 per person for funeral expenses).

You must also meet all other Medicaid eligibility requirements. If you think you might be eligible, apply as soon as possible (see below); don’t wait until you are sick or get hurt. One reason is that QMB coverage doesn’t start until the month after your application is approved.

What is “Extra Help”?

Extra Help, also known as the Low Income Subsidy (LIS), provides financial help with your Medicare prescription drug plan costs (Medicare’s drug coverage is available only from private plans). Depending on the amount of your countable income and resources, it will cover all or part of your plan’s premium, deductible, “donut hole,” and co-pay costs. There are different levels of help.

If you qualify for one of the Medicare Savings Programs, you automatically qualify for Extra Help, with a high level of help. If your countable income or resources are too high to qualify for a Medicare Savings Program, you may still qualify for Extra Help, but with a lesser amount of help. The maximum financial eligibility